Setting up a New Committee Protocol

This document consists of a set of protocols for setting up a committee within either Internal, External and Master Affairs, which are a part of Leiden Study Association Custodia. It is expected that the members of the committees will follow these protocols to the fullest extent. This expectation is set by the Heads of Internal, External and Master Affairs with regards to maintaining a certain degree of control over the committees.

1. In order to set up a committee, it is necessary to have at least three members (with a maximum of seven), willing to form the committee. The basic roles of chair, secretary and treasurer have to be included within the committee.

2. The following factors need to be assessed before a committee can be set up:

- It is necessary to assess what type of committee will be set up and if it will be covered by either Internal, External or Master Affairs;
 - Internal Affairs meaning: Aimed to regulate informal committees, which aim to enhance the social connection between students.
 - External Affairs meaning: Aimed to regulate formal committees, which aim to enhance the academic and professional skills and increase the academic knowledge of students.
 - Master Affairs meaning: Aimed to regulate the masters committee, which aims to enhance the social connection, academic and professional skills and knowledge between / of students.
- It is necessary to assess whether there is any interest in the committee. This means, if students are interested in future events that this committee will be organising. This can be assessed by face-to-face communication by the people setting up the committee, or through a poll on social media;
- It is necessary to assess whether the committee will add any value to the study association, either on an educational or social level.

3. A set-up plan is required, this will have to include the following:

- What type of events will be organised by the committee;
- How often the committee will be able to organise these types of events;
- When the committee will be fully operational;
- The factors mentioned above (2.), also need to be included in the set-up plan.

4. The set-up plan needs to be discussed with the Heads of Internal, External Affairs and / or Master Affairs:

- The Heads of Internal, External and Master Affairs will discuss the set-up plan with the board;
- The committee needs to be approved by the Heads of Internal, External and / or Master Affairs, before it can become operational.

Registration, Payment and Cancellation Protocol

This document consists of a set of protocols with regards to payments and cancellations by members of Leiden Study Association Custodia. It is expected that the members of the association have taken notice of these protocols and will follow them to the fullest extent. This expectation is set by the board of Leiden Study Association Custodia.

1. The organising committee has to keep the following order in mind when approving the registrations for an event with a limited number of available spots:
 - a. Members of L.S.A. Custodia always have priority.
 - b. If the number of spots have not been filled by L.S.A. Custodia members, other students from Leiden University are allowed to join the specific event.
 - c. If the number of spots have not been filled by either L.S.A. Custodia members or students from Leiden University, students from The Hague University of Applied Sciences (THUAS) are allowed to join the specific event.
 - d. People outside of the association, Leiden University or THUAS are not allowed to join such events.

2. A registration for an event is not completed unless the payment is fulfilled.
 - a. Registrations for events that do not require a payment from our members are completed after having filled in the registration form.
 - b. If we have not received a payment from our member, this means the member is not registered for the event, and can thus be refused entrance to certain events.

3. The committee responsible for the event and the responsible board member set a deadline for cancellation. This deadline will be communicated through a disclaimer at the event page, on the website or (if applicable) through our newsletter. After this deadline, there are three scenarios for refunds for events which involve external partners or companies:
 - a. If the company / partner we are visiting does not allow replacement, it is not possible to get a refund after the deadline of cancellation.
 - b. If the company / partner we are visiting allows replacement, the first person on the waiting list will be contacted. After the replacement completes his / her payment, the cancelling member will receive a refund of the costs made.
 - c. If the company / partner we are visiting allows replacement and we do not have a waiting list, the cancelling member is responsible for finding replacement himself / herself. After the replacement completes his / her payment, the cancelling member will receive a refund of the costs made.
 - i. If there is no waiting list, and the cancelling member cannot find replacement, a refund of the costs made is in no way possible.
 - ii. If a member cancels on a short-term and cannot find a replacement, the member will not receive a refund for the costs made.

4. The committee responsible for the event and the responsible board member set a deadline for cancellation. This deadline will be communicated through a disclaimer at the event page, on the website or (if applicable) through our newsletter. After this deadline, there are two scenarios for refunds for social or internal events (i.e. not involving external partners or companies):
 - a. If a member wants to cancel his / her attendance, a refund of the costs made is not possible after the cancellation deadline, unless we have a waiting list or the member finds a replacement.
 - i. In case of a waiting list, the cancelling member will receive a refund once a person from the waiting list has fulfilled his / her payment.

- ii. In case there is no waiting list, the cancelling member will have to find replacement himself / herself. After the replacement completes his / her payment, the cancelling member will receive a refund of the costs made.

5. The board is allowed to make a decision customary to specific situations. Should it ever be the case a decision is taken which is not included in the protocol, members will be notified of such a decision.

Interview / Application Letter Requirements

This document consists of a set of requirements for members of Leiden Study Association Custodia who are applying for a position in a committee. The application will consist of an online letter of application, followed by an interview with either the Heads of Internal, External or / and Master Affairs.

1. The first step of the application process is to send an application letter to either the Head of Internal, External or Master Affairs, depending on what type of committee you are applying for. The application letter has to include the following factors:

- Full name;
- Study programme, either the Bachelor Security Studies (BaSS) or the Master Crisis and Security Management (CSM)
- What role you are applying for; either Chair, Secretary, Treasurer or Assessor;
- A motivation for joining the committee.

2. The applicant will receive a notification if the application letter is approved. After the approval, the applicant will be invited to an interview with the Heads of Internal, External and / or Master Affairs, or the treasurer (depending on the committee of choice).

3. The interview process will consist of the following factors:

- Introduction of the applicant;
- Explanation of the motivation letter;
- The applicant will be asked several questions about their motivation and dedication for the designated committee.

General Committee Protocol

This document consists of a set of protocols for the existing committees, being either in Internal, External and Master Affairs, which are a part of Leiden Study Association Custodia. It is expected that the members of the committees will follow these protocols to the fullest extent. This expectation is set by the Heads of Internal, External Affairs and Master Affairs with regards to maintaining a certain degree of control over the committees.

1. Every committee will consist of three to seven people (with exception of the Financial Committee) and has to include three standard roles: the chairman, the secretary and the treasurer. The roles of the remaining people can be determined by the committee itself. More demanding committees will consist of more people and the less demanding committees will consist of less people.
2. Every committee is obligated to organise events regularly. These events have to be approved by the board before organising an event. The board will also make sure that all the events will be proportionate to one another.
3. The committees are formed by means of motivation letters and interviews. After the candidates have sent their motivation letters to either the Head of Internal, External or Master Affairs or the Treasurer, they can be invited to an interview. After these interviews the roles (Chairman, Secretary, Treasurer and Assessor) are divided between the candidates.
4. The committees are obligated to inform the responsible board member (being Head of Internal, External or Master Affairs) of new events and keep them up to date on the developments of an event. This can be done by either inviting the board member to meetings or by communication and should be done on a weekly basis. The board member will discuss every event with the board after which the board decides if an event can be organised. An event can only be organized after the approval of either the Head of Internal, External or Master Affairs.
5. Every committee is encouraged to make a budget estimate for every event that requires financial support. Each committee will receive an estimate of their budget for the upcoming academic year at the beginning of the academic year. Together, the committee members can draft up a budget estimate for the events their committee will organise. The committee should keep in mind that the budget that has been set at the beginning of the year is the budget they will have to do with the entire year. The committee is therefore encouraged to carefully draft up a budget estimate, so that they will not be short on budget by the end of the year.
6. It is possible for the committees to combine their events. This can for example be done by organising a drink after a guest-lecture or a workshop.
7. The committees will receive a year calendar after the first General Assembly which they can use as a guideline when organising events. When a committee picks a specific date, this should be communicated to the responsible board member, after which the deadline for promotion will also be set together with the secretary.
8. Committee members are expected to be present at each event their committee organises. Should a member not be able to attend, he / she is expected to notify the responsible board member in advance. Committee members are also encouraged to attend all events organised by other committees, just as the board is obliged to attend all events organised by the committees.

9. Specific task descriptions of all the committees we have to offer can be found on our website.

Event Protocol

This document consists of a set of protocols for the events, which are organised by committees of Internal, External and Master Affairs, which are a part of Leiden Study Association Custodia. It is expected that the members of the association will follow these protocols to the fullest extent. This expectation is set by the board of Leiden Study Association Custodia.

- 1. Every member is expected to behave accordingly at every event that is organised by Leiden Study Association Custodia. This means: no excessive drinking at any of our social events and no inappropriate behaviour when visiting external partners of the association.
- 2. Every member is expected to adhere to the following rules for our events:
 - a. You are expected to be on time at every event, especially when visiting external partners.
 - b. Dress accordingly. As an association, we expect our members to be representative. Therefore, always consider the event you are attending: do not show-up in casual clothing at an embassy, for example.
 - c. Behave accordingly. As an association, we expect our members to be representative. Therefore, always consider your behaviour during the events; be respectful to all members and external partners.
 - d. Cancellation and refund policies can be found in the “Registration, Payment and Cancellation” protocol.

We agree that learning is a process. The board and committee members of the association are devoted to expanding the knowledge and networks of our members. We accept that this journey of discovery will include challenges from which we will learn.

5. WE FOLLOW THE RULES OF ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

We agree to follow the university's academic integrity regulations. This implies that we are honest in the presentation of our work and give appropriate credit to those who have organised the events and put their time and effort in doing so. We always consider our responsibility to society and respect the individuals involved in our community.

6. WE RESPECT

We agree that, within our community, everybody is respectful to another, including, but not limited to, sex, age and gender. We agree that you should treat one another the way you want to be treated yourself.
